

Daniels Field Multipurpose Recreational Area – RFI #2

Question:

Incidentally a person on our team came across the bid opening for this project, since we are not a contractor or construction company, but a material manufacturer we would like to know how we can try to participate on this project, our products are specialty products and therefore they are far superior options for environmental and health issues.

Please let me know what could be the procedure as to be able to present this technology in coatings, cements and paints for this and any other projects your firm is servicing.

Answer:

You have to be part of a bidding Contractors team to participate. You could possibly attend the bid meeting, and introduce yourself (via business card), to the contractors, but please do not disturb the meeting in progress.
